3. Terms and Conditions

- Provision of the PGW Meridian Plan benefits is only available to current PGW Trade Account holders, and is subject to approval by PGW.
- PGW can withdraw approval for billing if you exceed your PGW credit limit and/or do not pay PGW by the 20th of the month following, and/or if you do not adhere to PGW's Customer Terms of Trade (see www.pggwrightson.co.nz/terms).
- If PGW withdraws their approval, or if you close your account with PGW, you will need to contact Meridian to discuss new billing arrangements.
- PGW will bill your PGW account the monthly amounts owing on your Meridian account for your electricity consumption and the associated charges, after receiving this information from Meridian.
- PGW will pay Meridian for any amounts due on your Meridian account, even if an amount is disputed by you. You must pay PGW the full amount of all charges from Meridian even if you dispute them. You must take up any disputes directly with Meridian.
- This agreement is also subject to Meridian's Standard Terms and Conditions for Business Customers, which is available at www.meridianenergy.co.nz/terms-and-conditions, except that your obligation to pay the charges under those terms and conditions is to PGW not to Meridian. When the Meridian energy charges are debited to your PGW Trade Account then PGW's Terms of Trade also apply to the extent PGW deems relevant. The Terms of Trade can be found online at www.pggwrightson.co.nz/terms.
- You agree to indemnify PGW in full against any claims whatsoever from Meridian or from third parties, arising from this billing agreement and/or breach of Meridian's Terms and Conditions.
